

The heatmap displays a 10x10 grid of colored squares. The color scale ranges from dark purple (low values) to yellow (high values). The highest values (yellow) are concentrated in the top-left and top-right corners. The bottom half of the grid is predominantly dark purple, indicating low values.

