

The heatmap displays the distribution of 'number' values across 'category' (rows) and 'month' (columns). The color scale ranges from dark purple (low values) to yellow (high values). The grid shows a clear pattern where values are highest in the top-left and bottom-right corners, and lowest in the center.

